TIPS FOR CREATING AN EFFECTIVE COVER LETTER

- Collect your thoughts. Your ideas may not come out logically or sequentially, but write them down. Don't judge and evaluate, simply collect them.
- Spend time on your letter. As the adage goes, "With part-time effort, you get part-time results."
- Write a draft, let it cool off overnight, and then rewrite if necessary.
- Use a strong close, e.g., "After you have had an opportunity to review this letter, I will call you..." Avoid weak endings such as "I look forward to your reply" or "Please call me at your earliest convenience."
- Limit your letter to one page; a letter is an opportunity to sell, so say something about you, while also focusing on the needs of the employer. Write the way you talk. It should be well-worded, concise, and controlled in the use of the pronoun "I".
- While a general cover letter can be used, best results come from personalizing each letter to fit the specific circumstances, position, or organization.
- Ask for opinions, advice, and feedback from friends, a counselor, or someone in the profession. Check spelling and grammar.
- Avoid cluttered desktop publishing. Business letters should look conservative. If you want to be creative, do so in your choice of words. If should be aesthetically appealing with careful attention to spacing and format. Use letter-quality printer paper or high-quality bond paper. Stick with white, ivory, or off-white.
- Remember to sign it personally and include your telephone number and email address.
- Don't use someone else's letter. If you are using the same letter for several companies, remember to change the name in the body of your letter.

- Devise a system to keep track of the follow-up steps you will take and the responses you receive. Most students have found that binders or file folders for organizing the job search and its correspondence are essential.
- Follow up, follow up. People will call you, but you'll improve your odds dramatically if you follow up your letters with a phone call.
- Don't mark letters "personal and confidential" unless there is a solid reason why a secretary or an administrative assistant can't open them. If your letter is persuasive enough, it will get through.

COVER LETTERS ONLINE

More and more job seekers are asked to send their resumes and cover letters online. These letters are about half the length of a regular cover letter. It is important to mention in your letter how you found out about the position, what you are looking for, and what you have to offer. You might also mention a few key words the organization might want to hear. Most importantly, be succinct. Most experts recommend that you compose your cover letter off-line first before importing it into an outgoing email message.

COVER LETTERS
The cover letter provides you with an opportunity to introduce yourself and state your objective, personalize your resume, and highlight information that addresses the needs and interests of the employer. Bear in mind that letters you write not only convey your interest and qualifications, but also give the employer an opportunity to observe your attentiveness to detail, spelling, grammar, and the overall quality of your written communication. Flaws in your letters will often be interpreted as flaws in your qualifications.

Dear Mr./Ms. Last Name:

Opening Paragraph:
What is your intent in writing this letter? What position are you applying for and how did you learn about it? Briefly introduce yourself, your major, and the degree anticipated. If you are aware of a specific opening, refer to it. If you are not aware of a specific position, state your area of interest. This paragraph can also be used to refer to the individual who recommended that you contact the organization, or other factors that prompted you to write. If possible, convey why you are interested in the organization and anything you know about their product or service.

Second Paragraph:
What are your qualifications? Why do you want to work for this organization? What would you enjoy doing for them? Sell yourself and be brief. What the employer’s appetite so that he/she will want to read your resume and schedule an interview. Describe highlights from your background that would be of greatest interest to the organization. Focus on skills, activities, accomplishments, and past experience you can contribute to the organization and its work. If possible, demonstrate that you know something about the organization and industry/field. Use action verbs that describe relevant skills and expertise you can contribute. Mention specific knowledge you may have such as computer applications, foreign languages, lab techniques, writing and editing capabilities. You are attempting to create a match or “notion of fit” between the employer’s hiring needs and your interests, experience, and skills.

Third Paragraph:
What is your plan of action? Do you want to follow up with a phone call or do you want them to contact you?
Close your letter by stating that you would like to discuss employment opportunities or other information with the individual and that you will call to follow up on your letter. This demonstrates your initiative and follow-through and will help you maintain some control of your efforts.

Other points that can be made in the last paragraph:
• Express your willingness to provide additional information
• State a specific time when you will follow up by phone or email
• Let them know if and when you are going to visit their area
• Thank the person receiving your letter for their time and interest

Most importantly, remember to address the cover letter to a person. If you do not have a name, call the department or human resources to find out to whom your letter should be addressed. As a last resort, address your letter to the personnel manager, hiring manager, or recruiting representative.

Ms. Marian Armstrong
Human Resources Manager
LEK Consulting
9999 Oak Street
Palo Alto, CA 9003

Dear Ms. Armstrong:

This letter and the attached resume serve as my application for the Associate position at LEK Consulting. After speaking with Jo Kimmel at Stanford’s Career Fair on October 9, I believe my skills, academic training, and work experience are a good fit for this position.

I will complete a Master of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering in June 20XX. I have developed strong analytical and quantitative skills through coursework in technical, computer science, and economics courses. In addition, my hands-on experience in various internships and student leadership positions supports my qualifications as an Associate.

As an intern at General Motors this past summer, I developed analytical skills by taking measurements on a development vehicle identifying design problems, offering solutions for improvement, and making recommendations in a written report. I was awarded a General Motors scholarship for my exceptional contributions as a member of the S-10 Crew Cab launch team.

At Stanford, I demonstrated leadership ability by serving as the elected president for a service organization with over one hundred active members. In this effort, I honed my ability to make good decisions, plan and organize my time, work well on a team, and have developed sound interpersonal, oral, and written communications skills. Finally, I bring an entrepreneurial spirit and creativity to this position, as evidenced by my experience designing, patenting, and marketing my own product.

I would enjoy speaking with you further to discuss, in detail, how I am a match for the Associate position. I will follow up in two weeks to see if there is additional information you would like me to provide or answer questions you may have (another option: I am eager to apply my energy, experience, and enthusiasm to the work of LEK and look forward to hearing from you soon.).

Sincerely,

John Duncan

Dear Dr. Allen:

I am currently a student at Stanford University pursuing a BA degree in economics. I am very interested in business-related careers and am seeking opportunities to develop and utilize my skills and qualifications. I have researched your company and believe that your commitment to excellence and service is in alignment with my career goals and beliefs.

In addition to economics, my academic training includes extensive coursework in the sciences where I’ve developed very strong analytical, quantitative, and technical skills. My research has honed the writing, planning, and organization, and presentation skills that I believe are essential in a business environment.

As an Investment Banker Summer Intern at Morgan Stanley, I collaborated with brokers to market online investing, consulted with prospective clients and networked through the Internet and other computer software. As my resume indicates, I have demonstrated strong leadership and decision-making skills through active participation in campus organizations. In my effort to continue to develop these important skills, I will serve as a Head Academic Advisor this coming year, teaming with resident assistants and faculty members to plan educational and social programs for freshmen to help them plan their academics and adjust to campus life.

I am excited about the many facets of the business world and welcome the opportunity to discuss opportunities to explore in your company. I will follow up in a week to answer questions you may have or provide additional information. In the meantime, should you have questions, I can be reached at 650-600-0000 or email: mjohnson@stanford.edu.

Thank you for your time and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Dr. Mark Green
Owner
Reno Lights Clinic

Reno, NV 99999

Dear Dr. Green:

My name is Still N. School and I am currently a third year student at Washington State University College of Nursing. Before beginning senior clinical practicum in August, I am interested in returning to a clinical setting and would like the opportunity to visit your practice and discuss the possibility of either summer employment or a senior internship.

I am a well-rounded student, recognized on the Dean’s List and active in many extracurricular activities and clubs. Throughout nursing school, I have experienced many opportunities that foster teamwork, leadership, diagnostic skills, and problem solving. My studies have included courses such as pharmacology, pathophysiology, anatomy and physiology, psychiatric and mental health, chronic illness in adults, and laboratory values and analysis. In addition to my curriculum, I developed and implemented a thesis project on the positive effect of exercise on insulin levels in severe diabetics. At the end of the project, I presented the successful results at the state nursing convention in Seattle, WA and to the College of Nursing at Washington State University.

My past clinical experience includes two multi-doctor practices in which I fulfilled certified nursing technician duties. Beyond medical knowledge, I gained a great appreciation for a sound staff, teamwork, and respect in the work place. These experiences have shaped my work ethic and my definition of a successful practice. I also have a wide variety of experience working with obese and diabetic populations. My future career interests reflect my diverse background.

I will be in Reno during the third week of March and would like the chance to introduce myself in person and visit your practice. I can be reached at your convenience at the contact information listed below. I will follow up with a phone call during the first week in March. Thank you for taking the time to look over my resume. I look forward to hearing from you soon and meeting with you in March.

Sincerely,

Still N. School
